

New high-end tech filling lines installed.

InnFood - a start-up with over 100 years of tradition.

The location in Weiding an Inn in Upper Bavaria has existed since 1906 and since 1960 food for babies and small children as well as organic food for adults have been developed and produced there. The products meet the highest quality requirements and safety standards, from raw material procurement to bottling. Innfood sees us as pioneers in the resource-saving and environmentally conscious production of glass food.

In order to underpin your market position as a premium provider in this segment of environmentally friendly glass packaging, the filling and capping lines were equipped with the latest high-end solutions.

When choosing the right technology, the Innfood team was advised by THELEN-machines GmbH & Co. KG as well as by the Thelen expert office for food technology (www.sv-thelen.de).

The layout of the line in the area of the filling and capping machines was also created by THELEN in direct cooperation with the quality assurance, product development, production management and project departments. The project was successfully commissioned in spring 2022.
